About the cover:

The covers for this Hi-Lo and Guided Reader Buying Guide were designed by Dean Maynard, and were inspired by the Art Deco style and modernist trends. This celebration of old styles is designed to remind us all of our traditions and that, as with reading, our cultural traditions remain both relevant and extremely important.

1800s
During the 1800s, machinery for making clothes was invented. More factories were built. Textiles became mass-produced.
Before machinery, weavers and tailors made clothes by hand.
Sewing machines were invented and then mass-produced during the 1800s. This allowed women at home to make clothing quickly and easily.
Clothes of the 1800s were often uncomfortable to wear. Women wore bone corsets that laced up tightly. Children's clothes were stiff and rough.

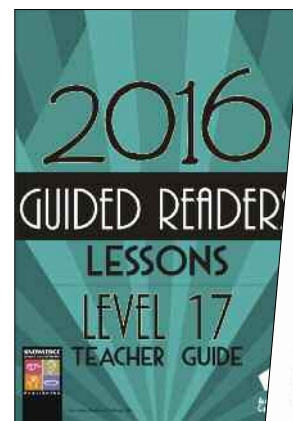

SO FACTS!
The first electric sewing machine came on the market in 1855.
Most people wore more practical, stylish clothes.

Top hats were common in the mid 1800s.
